Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 7-9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Satake et al(4142555) in view of Mirmiran et al (5599599) and Hsich et al (5972450).

Satake discloses a double skin tubular construction;

1. a reinforced polymer outer tube 4;
2. an inner tube 1 made from a steel material
3. a filler material 3 between the outer and the inner tube 4 and 1 respectively
4. the providing and inserting steps have obviously been performed by Satke as they are shown
5. the fiber reinforced polymer acts as a construction form during a curing stage of the filler as much as applicants polymer performs with the same limitations; there are no real or positively recited method steps in claim 9.

Mirmiran discloses a plurality of fibre reinforced polymer layers (column 3, line 62 through line 4 line 10) including a majority of fibers oriented circumferentially around the tube. Mirmiran discloses a filler mater provided between the outer tube and the inner tube.

Satake and Mirmiran lacks the reinforce polymer outer tube formed along an entire length of the steel inner tube. Hsich et al discloses the reinforced polymer outer tube 14/12 formed along an entire length of the steel inner tube 10. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have the outer tube of reinforced polymer formed along the entire length to provide corrosion protection along the entire length as shown by Hsich et al.

The material for the aggregate filler and the method in which the fibre reinforce polymer has been made has been considered a matter of choice. One of ordinary skill in the art would have appreciated all of the known types of fillers and aggregates and would have selected any one capable of filling the intended use, function and purpose of the invention. Moreover, the claims are not directed to a method but article the fibre reinforced polymer layers are shown by mirmiran. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Satake to include the bound aggregate material of any material in order to strengthen the tubular structure and to protect any steel or metal bars from the effects of corrosion. One of ordinary skill in the art would have appreciated all the methods to construct them and would have selected any one method commensurate with the intended use and financial budget.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments are moot in view of the new ground of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
